Turn Capitol area into Mice venues

The article, "Wanted: New 'director' for Capitol Theatre" (The Sunday Times, April 27), prompted me to write this letter.

Singapore has sufficient performance venues and museums. The Capitol Theatre and its surroundings would be put to better use as hotels, serviced apartments and Mice – or meetings, incentive travel, conventions and exhibitions – venues.

Serviced apartments would be patronised not just by visitors, but also visiting lecturers to the Singapore Management University next door.

The theatre, with its high ceiling, could be converted into a hotel ballroom, function room or exhibition hall.

These would be more attractive to potential investors.
